

Table of Contents:

Chapter:	Page:
Preface - by Merete Prior & Lars Madsen	5
Author's Introduction	7
The genetic connection between wolves and dogs What Domestication entails... How much wolf is still in our dogs?	9
The wolf as opportunistic predator An important lesson from evolution Important perspectives of nutrition Crucial conclusions, in the midst of uncertainty	14
What a wolf will choose from the menu Are the wolf's preferences supporting its health? What kills the predator? Summing up about the wolf's diet choices	19
Traveling and eating manners Using brain work instead of muscle power Etiquette and culture Summing up on hunting and eating manners	24
Scavenging as default food acquisition for canines What scavenging has to do with health... Would life expectancy matter? In lack of a fridge...	32
Care giving in the wolf family Family values – not pecking order Rearing puppies Wolf retirement Summing up about "family services" in the wolf pack	37

Mogens Eliassen:
"The Wolf's Natural Diet – a Feeding Guide for Your Dog?"

Using what we know - and managing uncertainty	44
Putting numbers on
Special meals for puppies
Meals on time?
The "executive summary" on the wolf's diet
Domestication and its possible consequences	48
When evolution can go fast – Belyaev's foxes...
The caveman's feeding program
Changing from using the land to "owning" it...
Invention of the pet dog
Tolerance to unnatural foods
When problems develop under cover...
Recreating extinct genes though selective breeding...
Establishment of pet care and pet supply industries
The unpleasant options of reality
Summing up about the domestication and its influence on diet
The big ethical question...	64
Some challenges for the individual dog owner
Breed-specific diets?
The elements of a responsible solution
What a caring dog owner should do...
What the responsible breeder should do...
Using the wolf as standard reference
Having our work cut out...
Can we do this?	78
The Aftermath of David Mech's seminar
- by Brenda & Dennis Hagel	81
Feedback	82
About the Author	83
Suggested additional reading	84

©All rights reserved.

Any copying or reproduction of this material without prior written permission is prohibited.
Please contact admin@sovereignty.com for details.